

Arlo Office Scene

Narrator: Welcome to Cap City

Here we see a day in the life of Employee Number 72

Employee Number 72 works 7 days a week, doing finances and occasional maintenance.

He is the last surviving Human in Cap City.

M.R. Plank: Your Efficiency is at 98% Seventy-Two.

Arlo: Oh...

M.R Plank Be Better

Arlo: Sorry Sir, I was just thinking about my Wife and Child.

M.R Plank Your Wife's effective rating mellowed out at 70%. She was deemed inefficient.

Arlo: Yes, but...

M.R Plank Your Child's effective rating was a measly 5%

Arlo: He was 2 years old...

M.R Plank Irrelevant, New robotic models work at peak efficiency straight off the assembly line.

Arlo: And the rest of my Co-workers?

Plank Mundane chatter will not be tolerated.

Look on the bright side, seventy-two. Due to your co-workers being replaced, you are now paid enough to survive.

Arlo: ...
Plank: You are now permitted your 5-minute lunch break.
Go Away

Arlo Shop Scene

Arlo Thanks for the food.
SK Giving thanks is an inefficient use of energy.
Arlo Well, I like to give it anyway.
...
SK You want a flame thrower?
Arlo Gee I would but I only get enough money for food and drink.
SK Take it anyway
It's dangerous to go alone.
Arlo Wahoo!
What now?
SK Well, you take your new Trinket.
And You burn it all down.